Alternate Side Parking

- Pilot program started a few years ago in Eastside Pioneers. Has gone well, overall.
- Enforcement is always an issue.
- Maintenance crews like it as it allows them to do their job better and more efficiently.
- City council never officially adopted as citywide program.
- If you want to do it block by block in places where there is already parking on both sides, you need 75% of residents to agree.
- Eastside Pioneers pilot - took an area where they thought it would work the best. At association meetings they explained how it would work. Had a vote at the meetings. Sent out notices that this was going to happen.
- Eastside Pioneers started with October- April. Then changed to November to March. Have not expanded because they have not had feedback from the city about how it's working for them.
- Residential permit parking. Block by block. Need to buy permit to park on the street. Fee per car. $25/yr.
